- 6. Obtain water from a clean source so it is free from potential contamination.
- 7. Ideally, it would be best to keep your pets away from the flock to prevent possible disease transmission.

How Do We Keep the Poultry Away from the Germs?

- 1. Prior to the arrival of new birds, clean and disinfect their housing to ensure that there is no build-up of potential disease pathogens from previous flocks.
- 2. If birds are housed on a dirt flooring, turn over the top layer (3 inches) of soil. This can help reduce potential exposure to pathogens and parasites that may be present in
